BITA: Formation and institutional evolution as a development organization

- Bangladesh Institute of Theatre Arts (BITA) was formed in 1994 by a group of intellectuals, artists and noted development activists who believe in culture as a tool for social change and facilitation.
- BITA since its inception focused its attention more on using culture's strength in sustainable development by incorporating innovative development processes.
- BITA focuses on process based development approach where culture itself is an object and which is more people oriented. Thus a way it contributes other conventional development approach by community driven empowerment process.
- BITA values positive changes in the people's mindset so that they make themselves active about social, cultural, environmental and human rights issues.
- BITA carries out development programs with children, adolescents, youth, disadvantage women and men, older people and ethnic communities in underdeveloped rural, semi-urban, urban areas, and displaced Myanmar citizen in Bangladesh.

BITA already implemented 51 projects, supported from 36 national and international development agencies. The organization is now capable to provide assistance to carry out cultural motivation & campaign initiatives, youth's skill development and social justice initiatives for other organizations as well. A total of 208 staff and 586 volunteers are involved in implementing the organizational endeavors.

- The organization played pioneering role to establish institutional framework to spread theatre as a development tools in home and abroad. BITA is now linked with many regional and international networks on Theatre and Arts Education.
- Cultural campaign has been out-reached to wider audience. Varied development partners from national to international organization have been realized as a result extended support.
- The organization assimilated newer development agenda and approaches to add more values and potentialities in designing and administering the development initiatives.

In the course of time, the organization adopted few unique model & interventions like social audit, youth education and employment, digital education for youth, skill and livelihood of older people in local communities and social hub for displaced people and host communities etc.

- BITA's development approach works on few areas of Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) including Goals 1: No Poverty, 4: Quality Education, 5: Gender Equity, 8: Decent Work and Economic Growth, 11: Sustainable Cities and Communities, 16: Peace and Justice Strong Institutions. BITA will continue to work on these goals and contribute to achieve these goals nationally.
- BITA considers grassroots participation at every tier of organization. BITA arranges grassroots artists' expositions at international platforms at the same time BITA recognizes their voice and concern in organization's growth. A group of grassroots representatives are also involved in BITA's Governing Body.
- This strategic plan is developed based on the achievements of BITA so far and its core competence in view of emerging issues.

Why BITA?

- BITA's experience, achievements and the existing development context suggest its raison d'Etre also for future.
- The communication gap continues to exist as the poor and disadvantaged people yet to have scope to communicate their concerns or receive information of their importance.
- Demanding rights for poor and disadvantage group is still a prime concern in establishing a just and equal society. And BITA's culture based communication tools is a strong media to argue on the issues.
- BITA's innovation in using newer mood of communication i.e. using online based communication approaches could also taken as an advantage for digital connectivity.
- The local level administration is providing necessary support as required by communities, but the poor are not always get an access to information and services. BITA extends support to the government initiatives and in cases collaborate to reach out the left behind group.
- Education and culture itself represents interlink and the gap between two resulted in limited cultural participation of young people, which can cause new forms of violence or unrestness in the society. To bring back culture's strength in educating morals and values, BITA works on Arts Education.
- While the overall situation is critical, the same from religious, ethnic minorities, social discrimination and gender perspective is much more precarious.

- Youth covers a larger percentage in our population. BITA approach has the unique ways of using communication and information tools which enhance youth engagement to build him a visionary and competent human being.
- Alternative and innovative initiatives through cultural modalities and practices have widely been used and observed. BITA will work to incorporate these grassroots and traditional practical at institutional level. Academic linkage is key to develop a secular culture in the society.
- Localization of development concept is more effective for present day context. Organizations like BITA have greater importance for government and donor agencies to render cost effective services for marginalized communities.
- Newer development agenda and approaches have been integrated into organizational working peripheries. The power of adaptability and advancement makes BITA well-equipped to work in the changing contexts, and also in future.

Internal Analysis of BITA

BCCT establishment

- So far, a management policy for BCCT formulated and yet to fully practicing.
- BCCT as a Trust yet to function properly.
- Sufficient fund is not available to run BCCT
- The use of land has not been reached to desired utilization.
- The facilities are more available for public attraction, but proper marketing yet to channelize.
- Strong publicity measures are still missing.
- Strong publicity measures for BCCT are still missing
- Complete office setup yet to plan to establish office at own premise.

Financial Management

- BITA remained donor dependent. The alternative source of income is explored in limited extent but yet to take dependable shape.
- The accounting system is still manually operated in few cases. Electronic accounting system fully to operate.
- Delayed fund clearance from the government makes sometimes financial management impossible.

Human Resources

- Senior management is having difficulty in line/staff management. More professionalism is required.
- The existing monitoring practice is not professional enough.
- A more updated monitoring mechanism needs to be in place.
- The human resource allocation is not balanced.
- Line Management gap still exists between Executive Director and Project Managers. A senior Manager/ Director need to be appointed for providing project team's support.
- Staff motivation for challenging work needs to be increased.

Policies

- The staff members should be more policy and procedures oriented.
- Child Safeguard Policy, Gender Policy, are already in place, but yet to decentralized and practiced at sub offices.
- Central management and cost centre's operating mechanism to be improved for better coordination.
- Staff benefits schemes yet to be functional.
- Risk Management Focal Person and role in line with guideline needs to be determined.
- Organization's Contingency plan needs to developed.

Governance

- EC members have capacities to contribute and needs to be tapped further

Risks and risk management strategies

Risk Category 1 (Grass root based)

- BITA assumes that the grass root people if encouraged and motivated by will put voluntary efforts for the institutional framework.
- It furthermore expects that people will cooperate in spite of sometimes problematic context.

Strategies

- While selection of working areas and stakeholders local context to be consider where GO, NGO relations, local people's development attitude, local resources are identified.
- Emphasize on the motivational work especially on women vulnerability and gender based violence, youth empowerment and ethnic minorities are considered.

Risk Category 2 (Institution-based)

- BITA assumes that its institutional partners will be cooperative.
- It expects that the partners, particularly the strong culture-based institutions, will sustain despite limited resources and present changing context of communication.
- BITA thinks it would be possible that emerging CBOs, local cultural groups, clubs will not be dependent on material support from BITA.

Strategies

- To formulate ground rules and specified roles & responsibility of the member organizations in the networking and coalition;
- To reflect the identity of every organization uniformly in collaboration activities
- To adopt a provision in BITA to support localization process
- To develop linkage with service provider for ensuring referral service for stakeholders.

Strategic Monitoring and Learning

- AS BITA's achievements are more qualitative, project's midterm and yearly progress review and impact study and case studies to be done professionally.
- People will perceive the degree of rights and social justice experienced and enjoyed and thus mentions their degree of satisfaction.
- BITA will develop its M&E cell to measure qualitative changes following indicators mentioned under each strategy.
- It will establish strong linkage with the project to permanently review the plan to achieve the objectives of the organization.
